Exceptions Few in School Busing Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — With two exceptions, the Nixon administration currently has no intention of seeking changes in school busing plans already ordered by the courts, its civil rights chief says.

Despite President Nixon's recent antibusing statements, the government is not likely to accept invitations to begin undoing court-ordered school desegregation plans, Assistant Atty. Gen. David L. Norman indicated in an interview Wednesday.

The exceptions are Austin and Corpus Christi, Tex., where the Justice Department already has filed appeals of court orders in which busing of students is an issue.

Since the Nixon statements, several other school districts have appealed desegregation orders that require busing, and are seeking the federal government as an ally.

Although the requests are receiving careful study, said Norman, head of the Justice Department's civil rights division, "I don't have any present plans, today, for getting into any other people's cases."

Nixon himself announced last month's decision to appeal in the Austin case, in which a federal judge rejected a government plan that would have required extensive busing, in favor of a local plan with less busing.

But at the same time, Nixon reiterated his opposition to busing of students and said the government busing plans would be disavowed in the process of the appeal.

Nixon said he had instructed both the Justice Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to henceforth hold busing "to the minimum required by law."

In the Corpus Christi case, the government joined local school officials in seeking a delay in carrying out a desegregation plan requiring massive busing.

Without supplying that definition, Norman said an acceptable desegregation plan would fall "somewhere there in the middle" between the extremes of seeking racial balance across a school district and no desegregation at all.

"There's no formula," he said. "In every large metropolitan school district there is an infinite number of alternative plans. Each one varies in the degree of disruption, cost, busing."

"Our policy is to urge a plan that is least disruptive and still consistent with constitutional requirements."

Japs Warn Retaliation to Surcharge

By SPENCER DAVIS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility of retaliation by President Nixon retains the 10-percent import surcharge too long clouded the opening day of a two-day economic meeting between the United States and Japan.

The possibility was raised by Japan's Foreign Minister, Takeo Fukuda, leader of a Japanese delegation of seven cabinet ministers and a strong candidate to succeed Prime Minister Eisaku Sato.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers arranged to open the ministerial conference with a statement calling for reevaluation of the Japanese yen and cooperative measures between the two governments to restore health to the world monetary system.

At a news conference on the even of the economics meeting, Fukuda said Nixon's economic actions, particularly the surcharge, have had a big impact on world trade.

"If it (the surcharge) continues a long time, it may well bring about retaliatory measures," the foreign minister said. "We hope that the surcharge will be discontinued at the earliest possible time."

He said he would discuss U.S.-China policy in a separate meeting with Rogers today.

Thieu Worried U.S. May Cut Aid Sharply

By J.T. WOLKERSTORFER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu is increasingly worried that the U.S. Congress might cut off or drastically reduce aid to South Vietnam if he runs unopposed in the Oct. 3 presidential election, informed sources said today.

Thieu is reported concerned despite assurances made by U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Secretary of State William P. Rogers that the Nixon administration has no intention of abandoning the Thieu government.

Sources said that in a series of recent meetings with advisers, Thieu has mentioned the possibility of resigning to forestall a cutoff in U.S. economic and military aid by Congress.

"If the U.S. doesn't want me as president, if they just tell me that directly, I will resign rather than have aid to South Vietnam cut off," Thieu was reported to have said.

He added that a coup attempt would be absurd "because there would be no winners in a

Wants Recognition for an Unheralded Group, the AP Wonderwomen

By SAM V. DOBBINS
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — In this day of the liberated woman there certainly is one rather unheralded group that deserves a little recognition—the AP Wonderwomen.

The girls around our Associated Press headquarters here formed a softball team this summer and battled it out in Central Park during weekly games with other all-gal teams.

Until now I had little to say about our team. Being something of a conservative male chauvinist, I guess my mouth was muffled out of sheer fear that an AP feminist would take a bat and use my head as a softball.

At first I thought that a bunch of gangling girls running bases and fielding softballs was something to smirk and quietly chuckle about. And there was

Budget Director Called by House Group for a Report on Tax Program

By EDMOND LEBRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee has summoned President Nixon's budget director to answer contentions that some proposed spending cuts would be only paper savings.

Director George P. Schultz was scheduled to take the stand today to continue the administration's case for passage of tax changes in Nixon's anti-inflation, economy-stimulating program.

The administration says its proposals on corporate and individual taxes would result in a net revenue reduction of $3.8 billion, but that it would also reduce budget spending by $4.9 billion for an overall gain of $1.1 billion.

When Treasury Secretary John B. Connally testified Wednesday, he ran into some skeptical questioning about items listed among the proposed spending cuts.

They include $1.6 billion from postponement of general and special revenue sharing with the states. Nixon had proposed revenue sharing, but it still has not moved out of committees where it faces strong opposition.

Another $600-million saving item was attributed to postponing the House-passed welfare-reform program, which faces an uncertain future in the Senate.

Some committee members contended labeling and welfare and revenue-sharing cuts as savings is misleading because of doubts about their passing Congress.

According to tables Connally submitted to the committee, the Treasury expects to lose $2.7 billion in revenue during the fiscal year ending next June 30 from revival of the tax credit for business investment in equipment; $900 million from a

10 Million Bales Cotton Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department estimated Wednesday the 1971 cotton crop at 10,962,400 bales, only slightly up from August indications but 8 per cent more than last year's output of 10.1 million.

It was the department's second monthly estimate of this year's cotton production and reflected field conditions as of Sept. 1.

The Crop Reporting Board said the average yield of cotton lint per acre was estimated at 453 pounds compared to the August estimate of 452 pounds and the 1970 production average of 437 pounds per acre.

The estimated yield per acre in Arkansas is 465 pounds and production of 1,100,000 bales of 480 pounds net weight each.

no way I was going to say anything about their pink and blue shirts with a thunderbolt plastered across the front.

I refused to go to our team's first three games because I presumed the whole idea to be ridiculous. But curiosity won out and I didn't miss a game the rest of the season.

However, I did not broadcast the feat that the AP Wonderwomen won those first three games I missed while they lost their next three, which I attended. I surely would have been branded a sexist, chauvinist red herring.

But my respect for the Wonderwomen materialized when their archivists, Time, Inc., challenged the AP to a co-educational game. That is, we speedup of increased personal tax exemptions and $2.2 billion from repeal of the automobile excise tax.

It expects to pick up $2 billion from the import surcharge Nixon already has imposed.

To offset the net revenue reduction the Treasury listed as expected savings:

Six-month freeze of federal employees' pay raises, $1.3 billion; general revenue sharing postponement, $1.1 billion; special revenue sharing postponement, $500 million; reduction of the federal payroll, $800 million; deferral of welfare reform, $600 million, and other economies, $600 million.

No Extension of Freeze, Says Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon told Congress today the current 90-day wage-price freeze will not be extended. But he said it will be followed by some other "system of wage and price stabilization" to be worked out after consultation with leaders of Congress, business, labor and agriculture.

In an address prepared for an unusual joint session of Congress—and broadcast live via television and radio—Nixon said he would be meeting with a cross section of leadership from in and out of government.

The chief executive, whose first such session will be held Friday with AFL-CIO President George Meany and other union representatives, said those he has invited to confer with him already have agreed to do so.

Nixon gave no hint as to the type of stabilization program he will favor once the current freeze expires Nov. 13. However, he said:

"Regimentation and government coercion must never become a way of life in the United States. Price and wage stabilization, in whatever form it takes, must be only a waystation on the road to free markets and free collective bargaining in a new prosperity without war."

Nixon said it was customary for a president to ask Congress for bipartisan support in time of war.

"I ask bipartisan support in meeting the challenges of peace," he said.

As for specific requests to Congress, Nixon urged that three tax proposals he unveiled Aug. 15 as part of a blockbuster economic program should be given "first priority—before all other business."

These measures, now being considered by the House Ways and Means Committee, would remove the 7 per cent excise tax on autos, grant rapid tax write-off privileges to businessmen investing in new plants and machinery, and accelerate by one year a $50 increase in personal income tax exemptions now scheduled to take effect Jan. 1, 1973.

To Discontinue Tradition

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The Utah State Fair should discontinue its traditional "family day" because it contributes to the population explosion, several University of Utah student leaders say.

Prizes are given to the largest families that attend the fair, which opens today.

"It promotes the population explosion," said Barbara Croft, a member of the Associated Students, Academic Affairs Board.

"We don't feel that awarding prizes for unchecked fertility is our idea of a good education," said Pete Sorensen, another Associated Students officer.

Sorensen and Miss Croft said they plan to write a protest letter to the State Fair Board.

Hurricanes Are Picking Up Power

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Fern, ending an hours-long stall, suddenly began spinning toward the Texas coast today and hurricane warning flags flew from Port Arthur to north of Freeport.

The National Hurricane Center here urged evacuation of low coastal areas before escape routes are cut off by tides already rising in the warning area.

The storm, spinning 90-mile an hour winds around the center and hurling gales 150 miles to the north and 75 miles to the south, was forecast to strike the coast near Galveston, with the center moving inland early tonight.

Gale warnings were in effect from Corpus Christi to Freeport in Texas and from east of Port Arthur to Vermillion Bay in Louisiana. A hurricane watch remained in effect south of Corpus Christi to Brownsville.

At noon, Fern was centered about 115 miles south-southeast of Galveston.

At 6 a.m. Edith was near Latitude 14.2 north, Longitude 81.3 west or about 150 miles east-southeast of Cape Gracias, Honduras.

Heavy rains were predicted over northeast Nicaragua and eastern Honduras, raising the probability of flash flooding and dangerously high tides.

The storm was moving west at about 18 miles per hour and was expected to deliver hurricane-force winds to Cape Gracias by midday. The center said residents of the area should rush to complete hurricane precautions.

Residents of northeast Nicaragua and eastern Honduras were warned to expect gale force winds and possibly winds of hurricane strength—above 75 m.p.h.—by midday.

Persons in the Cape Gracias area were told to take all precautions for the dangerous storm before noon.

Shipping in the hurricane's path was warned to exercise extreme caution.

Highest sustained winds at Edith's center were a reported 115 m.p.h. while winds above 40 m.p.h. extended as far as 125 miles to the north and 100 miles to the south of the center.

Youth Sought in Death at Van Buren

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP) — Authorities continued their search today near Muskogee, Okla., for a youth wanted in connection with the death of a school custodian at Van Buren, Ark.

Lonnie Ray Trantham, 59, was found stabbed to death Tuesday morning in the boiler room at the City Heights Elementary School at Van Buren. Officers said Trantham had been stabbed several times apparently with a screwdriver. Police said Trantham had been robbed, the school ransacked and Trantham's car stolen.

Father Turns in Children

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Five children aged 11 through 13 were arrested after a father of four of them turned them in for taking $186 in toys in a store burglary, police said Wednesday.

The fifth youth was a cousin of the four, officers said.

Have to Wait for Paychecks

WINFIELD, Kan. (AP) — About 30 employees of the Winfield post office will have to wait about two weeks for their pay checks.

Postmaster Kenneth Becker was notified that time cards which he mailed last Saturday didn't reach the processing station in Dallas in time for inclusion in the payroll.

The reason: Postal delays.

Young GIs arriving in Germany for the first time encounter a new kind of cultural shock. They compare the hard marks and pennig of reality with the tales they heard from their fathers and big brothers about the good old days when a carton of American cigarettes could buy practically anything here.

U.S. Diplomat Charged With Murder

WASHINGTON (AP) — An American diplomat has been charged with first degree murder in the stabbing death of the only other fulltime U.S. embassy official in the African country of Equatorial Guinea.

The U.S. attorney's office in Alexandria, Va., said Wednesday a complaint and summons were served last Saturday on Alfred Erdos when he arrived at Dulles Airport in Virginia.

Erdos, a Foreign Service officer, was taken to a Washington hospital for treatment of a nervous disorder.

The body of Donald J. Leahy, a Foreign Service security officer, was found last week at the American embassy in Santa Isabel by another diplomat, Leonard G. Shurtleff.

Shurtleff, the American consul in Douala, the Cameroons, had been sent to the former Spanish colony after the U.S. embassy in the Cameroons began to receive confused reports from Santa Isabel.

Erdos was then taken to the country's Nigerian embassy, flown to Douala and back to the United States.

He must appear Nov. 5 before a U.S. magistrate in Alexandria. The case is being handled there because it is in the same county as the airport where Erdos first returned.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts was formally opened Wednesday night with the late president's family joining in a standing ovation for the featured work, a "Mass" by Leonard Bernstein.

There was general critical acclaim for the work, but many critics have spoken harshly of the center itself and have called it such things as a marble mausoleum and a bit of aggrandized posh.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has scheduled a rare appearance before a joint session of Congress today in hopes of quieting critics of his broadside economic program by offering them "a piece of the action" in advising on steps to follow the current wage-price freeze.

Five Republican senators have urged the Democrats who control Congress to shelve politics and rally behind the program, but the House Ways and Means Committee has summoned President Nixon's budget director to answer contentions that some proposed spending cuts would be only paper savings.

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu is increasingly worried that the U.S. Congress might cut off or drastically reduce aid to South Vietnam if he runs unopposed in the Oct. 3 presidential election, informed sources said today.

UNDATED (AP) — Court-ordered integration-by-busing plans appeared to be gaining headway today in many Northern and Southern schools despite scattered incidents and parent resistance in some cities.

In Washington Assistant Atty. Gen. David L. Norman, President Nixon's civil rights chief said that with the exceptions of Austin and Corpus Christi, Tex., the Nixon administration currently has no intentions of seeking changes in school busing plans already ordered by the courts.

Charles Martin, son of Mrs. G. G. Martin of Hope, Ark., only those students with a 3.00 or better average of 4.00 scale are eligible for the list.

Construction of a $1,250,000 carpet mill in Hope was announced Thursday by Thomas E. Hays Jr., president of the Hempstead County Industrial Foundation. Construction will begin soon.

The plant will be located on 21 acres in the north industrial park. It will cover 72,000 square feet and at full capacity will employ 175 persons, making all types of carpet.

The firm will be known as Spears Carpet Mills, Inc. and will be organized by Grayson Spears who organized a similar mill at Lewisville and served as manager of the Marlin Carpet Mills in Marlin, Texas.

Formal announcement followed a telephone call Thursday from Congressman David Pryor's office revealing that a $350,000 Small Business Administration loan had been approved to the Hempstead County Industrial Foundation.

George Peck, president of State First National Bank of Texarkana, was a key figure in financing the project along with First National and Citizens National Banks of Hope.

Mr. Spears said he expected sales the first year to reach $400,000 and at full capacity annual sales will reach $1,500,000.

Mr. Spears, his wife and three children, reside at 404 East 17th Street.

Bumpers Is Asked to Reconsider

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Former state Supreme Court Justice Jim Johnson has asked Gov. Dale Bumpers to reconsider his decision not to lead a campaign for a constitutional amendment to bar busing for racial integration.

Johnson originally had asked Bumpers in a letter last week to head a drive supporting a federal constitutional amendment and Bumpers said at that time he "probably" would not do so.

At a news conference Wednesday, he said that in his earlier answer he had meant to say he definitely would not head a drive for any of several amendments proposed to bar busing for integration.

Johnson learned of Bumpers' remarks Wednesday and dispatched a second letter asking Bumpers to reconsider and to head the drive because the governor has "unique credentials" for such an effort.

The request, Johnson said, was based "not upon any desire to embarrass you or to advance my own political fortunes."

Johnson said he had advocated or condoned "almost every reasonable form of resistance to compliance" with federal court orders requiring "race mixing," including standing in school-house doors.

But because of this history of resistance, Johnson said, his own efforts today will attract widespread opposition from people opposed not to his goal but to him and his political persuasion. He said Bumpers would not have this handicap.

City Welfare Rolls Grow

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia County Board of Assistance reported Wednesday that city welfare rolls in July grew to 306,717 persons, 15.7 per cent of the population. The agency said it saw no reason to expect a decline and added that the rolls were approaching the April 1935 record when 354,175 Philadelphians were drawing relief checks.

Mass Escape of Guerrillas in Uruguay

By RAUL GARCÉS
Associated Press Writer
MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — The mass escape of Tupamaro guerrillas from a Montevideo prison was planned down to the smallest details including a tiny traffic sign directing the fugitives to a nearby house.

The sign was posted inside the house where the 120-foot escape tunnel into Punta Carreteras Federal Prison was begun. It read: "MLN, transit director, keep to the left," and showed the escaping members of the National Liberation Movement where they could find clothes, weapons and money.

Billy Castillo, a 30-year-old Mormon missionary, was the first person outside the leftist guerrilla group to learn of the plot. He said in an interview Wednesday he was in his house on Solano Garcia Street across from the prison when two young men, well-dressed and carrying pistols, knocked at the door.

"We are Tupamaros and we need this house for an operation," they told Castillo. That was about 7 p.m. Sunday, Castillo said, and the operation was over some nine hours later. The leftist guerrillas freed 106 of their comrades and five other prisoners and not a shot was fired during the escape.

Castillo said the guerrillas brought the residents of a nearby house into his home and ordered them all—Castillo and six women—into a room and warned them, "This is a matter of life and death. Your lives depend on the success of this operation."

Then the Tupamaros, reinforced now by other guerrillas, began digging the tunnel in the living room, piling up dirt amid the furniture, Castillo said. Police late found one of the gray wool socks the guerrillas used around their hooves to muffle the sound of the digging.

He said that in the middle of the night one of the older women called out to the Tupamaros to bring her tea, saying, "I always drink it before I sleep." They brought her a glass of tea.

As the escape hour neared, the Tupamaros also became nervous. One told the women, "Why don't you knit a little?" Castillo said.

The prisoners began emerging from the tunnel into Castillo's house about 3 a.m. Monday and the procession continued for 1 1/2 hours.

The small traffic sign directed the fugitives to a hole in the wall and a route that led to the house of Jorge Curi Zagia, already occupied by other guerrillas.

Curi Zagia said before the prisoners began arriving he and his family were ordered to the upper floor.

In the predawn hours Monday, motors started outside Curi Zagia's house and the guerrillas went on their way in a small caravan of trucks and buses.

At Punta Carreteras Prison, military patrols marched their routine rounds, passing Castillo's house every 15 minutes.

coup. The U.S. would withdraw and cut off all aid," the sources said.

Western diplomatic sources, in confirming that Thieu is increasingly worried about a possible cutoff in U.S. aid and has mentioned the possibility of resigning, said most diplomats still believe that Thieu will carry through with his plan to run unopposed in the Oct. 3 election.

Thieu has not talked to the press in the 10 days since he announced on national television that he would consider the election a "referendum" and would step down if he and his policies failed to get a vote of confidence from the people.

Some reports say he will hold a major news conference within the next several days to explain the details he omitted from his television speech: What he would consider a "vote of confidence" and how it would be measured, the mechanics of the election, and the procedure by which he would step down if he failed to get the required mandate.

A Saigon newspaper published by opposition Deputy Ngo Cong Duc was confiscated tonight for a banner headline claiming that the country's top generals were urging Thieu to resign.

The headline followed a reported meeting between Thieu and his four corps commanders and top generals from the Ministry of Defense and the joint general staff.

The government's official Vietnam Press reported that a second newspaper was confiscated today because it carried a story claiming that Madame Thieu has twice attempted suicide because her husband refused to resign as president.

U.S. Wants Secret Peace Discussions

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
Associated Press Writer
PARIS (AP) — President Nixon's new negotiator at the Vietnam peace talks proposed today that the talks should go into secret session, away from the glare of publicity, in a new effort to reach a negotiated settlement.

North Vietnam and the Viet Cong immediately rejected the proposal, as they have rejected all similar proposals in the past.

Ambassador William J. Porter renewed the two-month-old American proposal in his first session as head of the U.S. delegation.

The acting Viet Cong delegate, Dinh Ba Thi, told Porter he was prepared to meet with him privately—without the presence of a South Vietnamese delegate—to explain the Viet Cong's seven-point peace plan.

The United States has refused to meet alone with the Viet Cong delegation ever since the talks began in 1968, and there was little prospect that Porter would take up Thi's offer.

Porter urged the other side to consider his arrival as "an opportunity to make some progress toward a peaceful settlement."

In his first session of the long-dead locked talks, Porter said he was renewing the proposal for secret session to give the delegates an opportunity to negotiate "without the requirement for immediate public response."

NLR Boundary Case to Be Filed Soon

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Thom Glaze, a North Little Rock attorney, said Wednesday he will file suit in Circuit Court soon to change the boundaries of wards in North Little Rock to reduce the population variance in the wards.

Glaze said he will undertake the action as an individual resident of North Little Rock rather than as head of The Election Laws Institute.

Glaze said the action, requiring a petition signed by 100 residents of the area, is authorized under an 1885 statute.

He said he would wait several days to allow residents of North Little Rock to consider the situation and offer any helpful suggestions, then would circulate petitions to obtain the necessary number of signatures.

Glaze said the action was important because it is the first attempt in the state to align municipal ward boundaries to assure fair representation.

Glaze said he hoped the action would encourage similar boundary adjustment petitions in other cities of the state.

FHA Probe Centered in 4 Counties

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A Little Rock television station reported Wednesday night that an investigation of the operations of the Farmers Home Administration in Eastern Arkansas was centered in Lee, Clay, St. Francis and Randolph counties.

Investigators of the House government operations subcommittee came to Arkansas several weeks ago to investigate alleged fiscal irregularities in FHA operations in Eastern Arkansas.

It was reported that alleged irregularities involved the construction of homes approved for loans by FHA that did not meet FHA standards but which have been approved by FHA field inspectors.

Other alleged irregularities reportedly involved favoritism shown by FHA officials to building supply companies in Eastern Arkansas and Western Tennessee, to some insurance companies that insure homes constructed with FHA loans and to farm implement dealers who sell equipment to farmers, the station said.

The station said that many farmers in the eastern part of the state could obtain loans to buy implements only if they agreed to purchase the equipment from a dealer specified by FHA officials.

FLOATING WEST

illusionment, Spec. 5 Frank Godec of Pueblo, Colo., remarked, "I had the idea things would be dirt cheap over here. After all, the dollar was king."

But now Godec says he and his wife are finding "it's really hard to get by on the 'economy.' If you try to use dollars they only give you three marks or less. Sometimes they won't even accept dollars for marks. Since the mark was floated I've been paying $10 dollars a month more rent."

The "economy" is military jargon for the marks-and-penny world outside of American military compounds. Godec is one of thousands of married American enlisted men living "on the economy" because military dependent housing is not authorized or available.

The Godecs pay 500 marks a month for rent. Before the float, this came to about $137. Now it is about $147. But this figure is subject to fluctuation.

West Germany allowed the mark to float, or seek its own level on the international money markets, on May 9. The move was designed to stem the inflow of unwanted U.S. dollars and halt domestic price rises.

Two years ago, the value of the dollar was dropped from four marks to 3.66 marks. Since it was floated three months ago, the mark has risen about 8 per cent in value and Americans now are getting 3.38 marks or less for each dollar.

A long-time Army employee, who remembers the good old days, remarked, "I just don't go out on the 'economy' anymore. I eat at the American clubs. I tell my wife: Don't buy on the 'economy,' go to the PX and commissary."

A PX, or post exchange is comparable to a department store, and a commissary is like a supermarket. Prices of American products in both the post exchanges and commissaries have been frozen in line with President Nixon's new economic policy.

Spec. 4 William Jeter of Hays, Kan., said he and his wife "used to buy most of our groceries on the 'economy.' But since they floated the mark, we just can't afford it. Besides, we don't know from day to day how much our dollar is worth. We do our shopping in the commissary now."

But there is no comparable way to offset such higher fixed costs as rent, and the Jeters—like the Godecs—are paying $10 more a month than when they arrived last March.

If Congress doesn't unfreeze quarters' allowances for enlisted men, a 3rd Armored Division lieutenant said, "the guys really are going to be hurting."

Some lower-ranking enlisted men not authorized to transport their wives and children to Germany at government expense are said to be reconsidering plans to bring them over.

"They feel that, with the money situation being what it is, it's just not worth it," one enlisted man said.

U.S. Army headquarters in Heidelberg also is feeling the pinch. It estimates that each percentage point the mark floats upward from its official pegging will increase the command's operating costs by $3,767,000 this fiscal year.

"As of now, the change caused by the floating mark is about 8.3 per cent, or a fiscal year dollar impact of approximately $31.5 million," a spokesman said.

Heidelberg headquarters has "made representations to the Department of the Army on this added cost, seeking assistance in obtaining additional funding to cover it," the spokesman said.

But the West German finance and economics minister, Karl Schiller, already has served notice that Bonn will not increase its payments to Washington to offset the costs of stationing 200,000 American troops in West Germany.

While business in post exchanges, commissaries and military clubs is picking up, they too are having their money problems. Some clubs have increased membership dues.

"It shoots the budget all to pieces," said Maj. John Fogarty of South Berwick, Maine, custodian of the Frankfurt officers' club. "I can't plan from one day to the next. Since May, our wage costs have gone up about $5,000 a month."

At the commissaries, the monetary situation may lead to the absence of some local products from shelves.

Helicopters Ferry Troops in DMZ Push

SAIGON (AP) — American helicopters ferried 1,000 fresh South Vietnamese troops to within two miles of the Laotian border today in a major drive below the demilitarized zone spearheaded by U.S. B52 bombing strikes.

No contact with the enemy was reported as 15 helicopters carried the South Vietnamese infantrymen in more than 60 lifts to landing zones south of Highway 9 and Khe Sanh.

About 25 B52s, making their heaviest strikes in more than three weeks, dropped 750 tons of bombs on North Vietnamese positions extending from the southern half of the DMZ 20 miles southward below Khe Sanh.

The raids inside the buffer zone were aimed at North Vietnamese troops who reportedly had pulled back in advance of the South Vietnamese offensive launched Monday, which has grown to 13,500 troops. The object of the drive is to disrupt enemy supply routes and infiltration corridors leading into South Vietnam from Laos and the DMZ.

There has been no major fighting reported, and Maj. Gen. Pham Van Phu, directing the operation, said thousands of North Vietnamese had fled north across the DMZ during the preceding two weeks of heavy B52 raids.

Associated Press Correspondent Holger Jensen reported from the field that two American advisers accompanied the South Vietnamese to call in U.S. air strikes around the landing zones if there was enemy resistance.

U.S. 24th Corps artillery supports the South Vietnamese in the northern sector because they lack the long-range howitzers and 175mm guns.

In a smaller, parallel operation farther east toward the populous coastal lowlands, South Vietnamese infantrymen reported killing eight enemy troops and capturing one prisoner. Two South Vietnamese soldiers were reported wounded.

Sharp fighting was reported in the Mekong Delta at four points more than 100 miles southwest of Saigon, including the U Minh forest. The South Vietnamese said 50 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops were killed while South Vietnamese losses were five killed and eight wounded.

In other developments: —Adm. John S. McCain Jr., commander of U.S. forces in the Pacific, arrived in Phnom Penh to confer with Cambodian leaders on American military aid.

—South Korea announced it will withdraw one brigade of its 50,000-man military contingent in South Vietnam between December and next June.

Lawmakers Are Urged to Not Play Politics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five Republican senators have urged the Democrats who control Congress—particularly those preparing to run for the White House—to shelve politics and rally behind President Nixon's new economic program.

GOP sources said the series of speeches and statements was orchestrated at the White House.

The Nixon himself planned to urge a joint session of House and Senate today to approve the tax reductions that are part of his economic package.

The Senate speeches and the Nixon appearance dominated the congressional stage, and there was no immediate Democratic reply. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., has proposed a caucus of Senate Democrats to work out a party position on measures to follow Nixon's 90-day wage-price freeze.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, the acting Republican leader, keynoted the GOP speeches Wednesday by urging support for "our president now, because he is right. I venture the suggestion that attempts to play politics with these proposals will prove to be bad politics."

Medina Lawyer Charges Army Used Trickery

By KATHRYN JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
FT. McPHERSON, Ga. (AP) — Defense Attorney F. Lee Bailey charged today that the Army resorted to trickery in a polygraph test in order to bring Capt. Ernest Medina to trial on murder charges.

Bailey made the charge during the questioning of the 31st witness in Medina's trial, Robert A. Brisentine Jr., the examiner who gave Medina a lie detector test in November of last year.

The defense attorney argued that Medina volunteered to be tested on whether he issued an illegal order that invited his men to kill civilians. But, Bailey said, Medina was secretly being tested on whether he knew his men were killing civilians.

The message, and a $65 month's pay to U.S. soldier John F. Watts, came to the First United Methodist Church here. It was forwarded to the denomination's Board of Missions, which in turn gave it to the Martin Luther King Hopemobile, an interracial peace project in New York.

SOLDIER DONATES PAY
GLENDAL, Calif. (AP) — "Here is my combat pay for a month which was given for helping kill people in Vietnam. Please use it to help people to stop some of the feelings and beliefs of mankind which allow us to kill each other."

ians at My Lai and condoned the slaughter.

On that basis, said Bailey, Medina's answers were involuntary.

Medina's polygraph test, which included a number of interviews and conversations, spanned a period of three days.

The military judge, Col. Kenneth Howard, ruled earlier that the examiner may recount the substance of his interviews with Medina but cautioned both attorneys from questioning him about the results of the test.

Under military law, the results of a lie detector test are inadmissible.

At the time Medina took the test, he was under an Article 32 investigation—the equivalent of a grand jury investigation. The Army initially indicated that the charges against Medina would be based on his issuing illegal orders.

The Army has indicated they will rest their case against Medina after the polygraph question is resolved.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. ERNIE HORTON GRAY

Saturday at 7:30 in the evening, Miss Mary Jo Middlebrooks became the bride of Ernie Horton Gray, in a candlelight ceremony at the First Baptist Church in Jackson, Tenn. The Rev. Travis Otey was the officiating minister.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Todd Middlebrooks formerly of Hope, now of Jackson and Mrs. Ernie Oren Gray of Calico Rock, Ark.

The vows were pledged before a white wrought iron prie Dieu, covered with white satin pillows, which were tied with white satin bows and clusters of stephanotis. Centering the altar was a large fan-shaped pedestal arrangement of bronze mums, yellow pompoms and wheat, backed by an arch candelabrum, entwined with garlands of huckleberry and holding yellow tapers. On either side were nine-branched pedestal candelabra.

On each side of the prie Dieu were spiral candelabra, entwined with garlands of greenery. On each side of the altar were matching arrangements of mums, pompoms, and wheat and seven-branched candelabra, holding yellow tapers. The family pews were marked with gold satin bows and greenery. Bobby Newton, organist, and Miss Beverly Williams, vocalist, provided pre-nuptial music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was wearing a gown of silk dulcette in a soft candlelight color, fashioned with a high-low waistline, Sabrina neckline, and Queen Anne sleeves. The entire bodice was of re-embroidered Alencon lace and pointed d'espirit and was heavily jeweled with crystals and tiny seed pearls. The Queen Anne sleeves were cuffed with lace and jewels, matching the bodice. The neckline was scalloped with lace. The A-line skirt had a deep pyramid of lace, ending in a scalloped hemline. This too was jeweled. The semi-cathedral-length train had a tubular shape and had scatters of the motif of the bodice.

She wore a mantilla of Alencon lace. Jeweled with seed pearls, it was fashioned to fall from a cap

Facelift Bathhouses

SEATTLE, Wash., (AP) — Old bathhouses in this city are getting a facelift aimed at making the structure serve double duty.

Years ago, swimmers traveling to the city's lakes would slip into bathing suits inside the buildings. Nowadays, swimmers bypass the structures and wear their suits enroute to the lakes.

City officials, concerned the structures were turning into white elephants, decided to make them bi-functional.

Three of the structures have been turned into a theater, a cultural center and a dance studio.

Money was allocated for the program by Forward Thrust, a city fund raising program. "About $50,000 per structure was allotted for the projects," said Arne Bystrum, Seattle architect who redesigned the

A little learning is apt to prove a dangerous thing. South had learned all about counting distribution and about planning the play of the hand at trick one. He hadn't learned how to end it.

He studied the hand carefully before playing to the first trick and noted that his whole problem lay with the queen of diamonds.

Then he ran off the hearts and noted that East shed a spade. Next came three rounds of clubs. The drop of a heart from West was also noted and filed away. Then South ran off the spades, winning the last one in dummy. West let the last heart go and South had a complete count of the hand. West had started with two spades, five hearts and two clubs and therefore was left with four diamonds.

East only held one card in that suit. If it were the queen it would drop on the first lead; if it were a small card, South would have a sure finesse against West.

South smiled happily. He announced that he was going to make his grand slam and then threw it away.

He led the seven of diamonds from dummy! He took his ace; led a second diamond and finessed but had to win that trick in dummy and couldn't finesse again.

He had forgotten to lead dummy's 10 or jack the first time!

MRS. THOMAS MASSEY

Miss Anita Karen Beggs became the bride of Thomas William Massey Friday, September 3 at 8:30 p.m. in the Unity Baptist Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. B. Beggs, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Massey of Arkadelphia.

The Rev. J. W. McAdams performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with southern smilax and burning tapers flanked by seven-branched candelabra. Wendell McCorkle, organist, played a program of appropriate music and the traditional wedding marches.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, Charles Ray Beggs of Little Rock. Her gown of peau de soie was designed with an Empire waistline and lace bodice. The long and full sleeves were deeply cuffed with lace and seed pearls. Appliques of lace were used on the front of the skirt and edged the hemline. The circular lace train was outlined in embroidered lace and was attached at the waistline with a satin bow. Her illusion veil fell from a headband of embroidered lace and satin. She carried fleur d'amour centered with a purple-throated white orchid atop a white Bible.

Miss Becky Polk of DeQueen was the maid of honor. She wore green crepe de chine in a formal-length gown which had an Empire waistline, a scooped neckline and long, bishop sleeves with wide cuffs. In her hair she wore green velvet ribbon, and she carried a green candle surrounded by yellow daisies and green ribbon.

Dressed in identical manner to the honor attendant were the bridesmaids, Miss Tina Martin and Miss Betty Jo Riley of Murfreesboro.

Mike Branch of Hot Springs was the best man.

Ushers, who also lighted the candles, were Tim Harstell of Hot Springs and Terry Dancer of Star City.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Ray Beggs of Little Rock. Her gown of beau de soie was designed with an Empire waistline and lace bodice. The long and full sleeves were deeply cuffed with lace and seed pearls. Appliques of lace were used on the front of the skirt and edged the hemline. The circular lace train was outlined in embroidered lace and was attached at the waistline with a satin bow. Her illusion veil fell from a headband of embroidered lace and satin. She carried fleur d'amour centered with a purple-throated white orchid atop a white Bible.

A reception followed in the fellowship hall of the church. Those in the house party included Mrs. J. W. McAdams, Mrs. Ernest Ridgill, Mrs. Jimmy Butler, Mrs. Troy Burson and Miss Judy England. Mrs. Charles Beggs of Little Rock presided at the bride's book.

For a short wedding trip the bride wore a navy and white polyester double-knit suit with matching accessories and pinned the orchid from her wedding bouquet at her shoulder. Upon their return they will be at home in Arkadelphia, where both are students at Henderson State College.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding and reception included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Latimer, Lisa and Susan of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Goodwin and son and Mrs. Billy Bice and sons of Natchitoches, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Edmonson of Clarksville, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Riley of Murfreesboro; and a host of friends and relatives from Arkadelphia.

Bobcats Are Working Hard for Prescott

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Time grows short for the Hope Bobcats as they prepare for their home opener against Prescott Friday night in Hammons Stadium.

Hope, going into the game, will be thinking only of getting into the winning column after practicing very hard for the last three days.

Looking at Prescott awhile, you will see that the Curley Wolves are coming off of a 24-9 victory over Magnet Cove and will be out for their second win in a row.

Led by senior quarterback Freddie Wren, a two year letterman, the Curley Wolves should have a fairly well established backfield with Roosevelt Murphy and Jerry Flemmons or Hilton McDonald.

Anchoring the line will be veteran center Ricky Marlar, with the probable tackles being Danny Gillard and Martin Jamison. Also returning are senior guard Mike Tomlin and senior end David Gordon, both pretty fair blockers.

Rugged Jim Jones returns as a defensive leader and his cohort at the other linebacking slot will probably be Doug Guthrie. Both have fairly good speed and are quick.

Holding down the line will be noseman John Coe, and tackles Allen Loe and John Mitchell. Coe and Loe both weigh about 180 pounds with Mitchell at around 170.

Ends will probably be Kenneth Van Hook and Danny Beavert with the secondary including Terry Spearman, Jeff Jordan, and Malcolm Cuipepper.

Always a good rivalry game, this year's contest should prove once again to be a hard fought bruiser to the end and could prove to have an effect on the rest of the Bobcats' season.

Lem Bradley Is Stroler to the Lions

DETROIT (AP) — His nickname is "Stroller" but anyone who ever saw him play football for the Detroit Lions wouldn't be able to get the connection.

Lem Barney doesn't stroll. He races, dances, flits, twists, spins, fakes, sidesteps, leaps and streaks. When the veteran defensive back gets hold of the football everyone expects excitement and everyone is usually satisfied.

In four years with Detroit, Barney has scored 11 touchdowns on runbacks—six with interceptions, two with field goal attempts, two with punt returns, and one with a kickoff return.

A good year for him would do a lot to send the Lions to the Super Bowl, an objective that seems a strong possibility.

The Lions have enough talent offensively and defensively to wrest the National Football Conference Central Division title from the Minnesota Vikings.

Barney is only one player in a fine crop but it is Barney who, more than any other, can turn a game around. In four short years the agile cornerback has intercepted 32 passes, averaged 26 yards on 39 kickoff returns and returned 51 punts an average of 10½ yards.

In a recent exhibition against Miami he set up a touchdown with a long sidestepping interception return. Soon afterwards he recovered a Miami fumble just as the Dolphins were ready

Thinks Hope Will Defeat Prescott

By HARRY KING

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Little Rock Hall vs. Little Rock Catholic has meant hard-fought football games for years.

Imagine what it will be Friday night when the Warriors and the Rockets square off with something at stake besides pride. Catholic moved up to Class AAAA this fall and the game Friday night will be the conference opener for both teams.

In addition, a high state ranking is assured the winner. Hall is ranked second in the state, Catholic fifth.

Hall may have a slight advantage with one game under its belt, a 14-6 victory last week over Little Rock Parkview. Hall is the Rockets' first opponent.

The Warriors must improve over last week's showing to defeat the Rockets. Hall did little on its own against Parkview, capitalizing on an interception and a fumble to score.

The Rockets are breaking in a new quarterback — Terry Blaylock — who coach George Loss says has many of the same traits as Jimmy Doolittle, Catholic's outstanding quarterback of 1970.

The actual game experience may be the difference in this one.

HALL 20, CATHOLIC 14. North Little Rock Northeast and El Dorado meet Friday night in another AAAA conference game.

Northeast 1-10 last year, surprised some by whipping Benton 14-7 last week. El Dorado did not play last week.

The Wildcats have the home field advantage. EL DORADO 13, NLR NORTHEAST 7.

Ashdown plays at Arkadelphia Friday night in an important 7AA battle. Arkadelphia and Hope were picked 1-2 in the conference in preseason forecasts, but Ashdown whipped Hope 8-2 last week. Arkadelphia's offensive was surprisingly inept in a 15-0 loss to Texarkana last week.

Arkadelphia figures to be ready for its home opener. ARKADALPHIA 20, ASHDOWN 13.

Eyes Were on Wilbur, Kaat Steals Show

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Wilbur Wood said that going for his 20th victory felt no different than going for No. 19 or No. 18.

But getting that magic No. 20 was another matter.

While all eyes were on Wilbur, Jim Kaat stole the show. Wood, the veteran knuckleballing, reliever-turned-starter of the Chicago White Sox, was stymied in his bid to become the American League's third 20-game winner by Kaat, who hurled a nifty four-hitter as Minnesota defeated Chicago 3-1 Wednesday night.

The big left-hander, at 11-12, having a sub-par season, held the White Sox hitless until the fifth inning, then gave up only four singles.

"No game is easy to win," sighed Wood, 19-11, denied in his bid to join Oakland's Vida Blue and Detroit's Mickey Lolich in the 20-game circle.

"Those soft hits hurt you as much as the big ones."

A scratch hit, a sacrifice and two singles gave the Twins two runs off Wood, while a hit batsman, a double and a sacrifice fly accounted for the final run.

Elsewhere in the American League, the New York Yankees edged Boston 2-1 in 11 innings in the day's only afternoon contest, while Detroit beat Washington 5-3, Milwaukee outscored Kansas City 7-6 and Oakland trimmed California 1-0 in night games. Baltimore and Cleveland were not scheduled.

In the only National League game, Pittsburgh routed the Chicago Cubs 10-1, Montreal trounced the New York Mets 10-2, Los Angeles shut out San Francisco 3-0 and Cincinnati whipped San Diego 4-1.

Kaat recorded his four-hitter by going back to a tried-and-true formula—throwing strikes. The 6-foot-4 southpaw did not walk a batter, relying on his fast ball when the going got rough.

Like in the ninth inning, when the White Sox reached him for their only run of the game on singles by Rich McKinney and Carlo May. Twins Manager Bill Rigney went out to the mound to speak to Kaat about the next hitter, Bill Melton, whose 28 home runs rank him second in the American League and who represented the potential tying run.

Kaat's first pitch was a fastball, his second a hard screwball. Both were strikes. After wasting one pitch, he went back to the fastball and fanned the White Sox slugger.

Wood, denied his major goal of the night by Kaat's fine pitching, had to settle for something of a consolation prize. His complete game raised his total of innings pitched this season to 283, the most by a White Sox pitcher since Thornton Lee hurled 300 innings in 1941.

John Ellis hit a sacrifice fly to drive in Roy White with the Yanks' winning run. Ron Swoboda had accounted for their first run with a solo homer in the seventh inning, his second of the season.

Home runs by Gates Brown, Aurelio Rodriguez and Bill Freehan powered Detroit over Washington and moved the Tigers nine games behind idle Baltimore in the American League East.

Jose Cardenal's grand slam homer highlighted a six-run outburst by Milwaukee in the top half of the fifth inning, then the Brewers survived a six-run explosion by the Royals in the bottom of the fifth.

Jim "Catfish" Hunter, 19-11, fired a four-hitter for the A's, outdueling Rudy May of the Angels, 9-11, who also hurled a four-hitter.

The only run of the game crossed the plate in the fifth inning when Angel Mangual singled and Dave Duncan and Dick Green walked to load the bases. With Hunter at the plate, May tried to pick Duncan off second, but his throw sailed into centerfield and Mangual scored.

Hunter's biggest scare came with one out in the ninth, when center fielder Mangual had to go back to the wall to haul in a drive by Roger Repoz. Hunter then retired John Stephenson for the final out and had his 19th victory, the most of his scored one with a single, double and his 11th home run as Pittsburgh bombed the Chicago Cubs 10-1.

Dodgers Are Trying to Reverse Roles

By BRUCE LOWITT

Associated Press Sports Writer

Remember the "Miracle of Coogan's Bluff?" Well, brace yourself.

The new, improved, 1971 model—the "Miracle of Chavez Ravine"—appears to be unfolding in the wild, wild West.

Coogan's Bluff was, of course, the site of the since-demolished Polo Grounds where the old New York Giants, trailing Brooklyn by 13½ games in August 1951, came on with a frenzy to tie the Dodgers for first place in the National League, then beat them in the playoffs on Bobby Thompson's home run, the "shot heard 'round the world."

Now, one generation and 3,000 miles later, the Los Angeles Dodgers are trying to reverse the roles—and in the past three nights they've succeeded admirably against their still-rivals, the San Francisco Giants.

Only last weekend the Dodgers, whose home park sits comfortably in Chavez Ravine overlooking downtown Los Angeles, trailed their upstate foes by 8½ games and many fans seemed willing to sit back and contemplate the possibility of a Bay Area World Series between San Francisco and neighboring Oakland, running away in the American League West.

Then the Giants strutted into Dodger Stadium.

They stumbled out of it Wednesday night, their West Division lead slashed to a vulnerable five games as Los Angeles completed a three-game sweep against Juan Marichal & Co. with a cliff-hanging 3-0 victory.

In other National League games on the abbreviated schedule, Pittsburgh walloped the Chicago Cubs 10-1, Montreal trounced the New York Mets 10-2 and Cincinnati swatted San Diego 4-1.

In the American League, the New York Yankees edged Boston 2-1 in 11 innings, Milwaukee beat Kansas City 7-6, Minnesota defeated the Chicago White Sox 3-1, Detroit topped Washington 5-3 and Oakland nosed out California 1-0.

"The pressure's still on them—they've still gotta catch us," the Giants' Bobby Bonds commented. "We're still in first and we've got time on our side."

Bill Singer, who silenced San Francisco on just two hits before wilting in the ninth inning, agreed. "I didn't feel this was a key game at all," he said. "There are a lot more important ones coming up."

Singer allowed Ken Henderson's first-inning double and a single by Chris Speier in the second, then retired 20 batters in a row before walking Henderson and Jim Hart with one out in the ninth.

That brought in Jim Brewer—who loaded the bases by walking Willie Mays. But Bonds ended the spine-tingler by slapping into a double play.

Wes Parker singled and scored the Dodgers' first run in the first inning, then tripled home a run and scored again in the third.

Tom Haller, a former Giant now catching for the Dodgers, observed:

"We still need help. Somebody else has got to beat them as well. But there's no doubt about it—this was a big boost, psychologically and statistically."

The victory was the Dodgers' first this year against Marichal and only their 14th over him in 50 decisions. "It's always nice to beat a great pitcher," Haller said of his former batterymate, "but we have to beat whoever's out there."

It was also the Dodgers' sixth straight victory over the Giants, their longest such streak since the two teams moved to the West Coast at the start of the 1958 season—and they can't wait for next Monday and Tuesday nights, when they collide again in San Francisco.

Al Oliver led Pittsburgh's 13-hit assault against six Cub pitchers while Steve Blass gained his 13th victory by silencing Chicago on six safeties.

Oliver cracked his 11th home run of the season and added a double and single to drive in five runs and Milt May knocked in a pair during six-run seventh inning as the Pirates widened their East Division lead over St. Louis to 6½ games.

Rusty Staub wielded the Expos' big bat with four RBI, three on his 16th homer of the year, while Carl Morton checked the Mets on five hits, including relief pitcher Tug McGraw's first major league round-tripper.

The Reds snapped Clay Kirby's personal six-game winning string against them as Don Gullett, en route to his 15th victory in 20 decisions, Pete Rose and Bernie Carbo singled home second-inning runs against the Padres' right-hander.

Black Group Wants Pro Franchise

BOSTON (AP) — A group of prominent blacks has been meeting secretly for over a year, making plans to petition the National Football League for an expansion franchise, the Boston Record American said Wednesday.

The paper said the group includes entertainer Sammy Davis Jr., actor Sidney Poitier and prominent black businessmen.

Memphis, Tenn. has been selected as the franchise city, the Record said, and strong sentiment leans toward naming the team the Memphis Kings, in honor of the late Rev. Martin Luther King.

John Mackey, tight end of the Baltimore Colts and named by the Record as a top contender for team president, said in Baltimore that he had not been approached formally about any such job.

"I have been asked by many people if I would like to coach or stay in football in various capacities after I quit playing," Mackey said. "But if anyone from this group approached me, they didn't identify themselves as such."

Actor Jim Brown, former fullback for the Cleveland Browns and named along with Mackey as being considered for president of the franchise, said in Los Angeles: "I'm not involved at all in any level. I'm not saying it's a good or bad idea. I've heard a little about it. None of my immediate friends are involved."

His Weapons Are Speed, Agility

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — In a time of mammoth football linemen, Arkansas' Les Williams is somewhat of an oddity.

He often finds himself putting his 195 pounds up against offensive tacklers who outweigh him by as much as 50 pounds. His only weapons are speed and agility.

"I try to out-quick the blocker and get to the ballcarrier," Williams said. "This is the only way for me to make a play."

Williams, a linebacker last year, switched to defensive end on the first day of fall practice this season, and he found that many of his linebacking techniques carried over to the new position.

He already is accustomed to tangling with blocking fullbacks.

"A linebacker meets a fullback on almost every running play," he said. "Defensive ends do the same on end sweeps and option plays."

There is one big difference in his new job. "We must play the quarterback," said the junior from Enid, Okla. "Defensive ends get run support from the linebackers and cornerbacks. It's our job to step up and make something happen."

Williams hopes he makes a lot happen — all wrong for California — when the Razorbacks play the Bears Saturday night in Little Rock.

Mr. Hockey, U.S.A. Is Retiring

By MARTIN HIRSCHMAN
DETROIT (AP) — Occasionally during his 25 star-studded years with the Detroit Red Wings, Gordie Howe would receive fan mail addressed simply: "Mr. Hockey, U.S.A."

Now, holding more National Hockey League records than any other player in history, Mr. Hockey is stepping aside to let some of the younger talent have a chance.

Red Wings owner Bruce Norris had invited newsmen to a press conference this afternoon but, saying he "couldn't hack it" once they sent out the invitation, Howe started telling reporters his retirement was official about 18 hours early.

The six-time NHL most valuable player had been arguing the pros and cons of hanging up his skates for months. He catalogued the arguments again in a phone interview Wednesday night.

"Age for one," he said. "I'm 43 and it's a young man's game ... some wrist trouble, and my legs aren't what they used to be."

"One thing I've stuck to pretty much throughout my career—when it becomes more work than fun, I've had it. I've found practice extremely difficult and I just don't get up for a game anymore."

"When you see your own son embark on his own career, you know you're getting old," he added, referring to his 17-year-old boy Marty who is making his bid in Canadian Junior hockey this year.

"And it was my mother's wish before she died that I get it (retirement) out of the way before I got seriously hurt."

Howe said the only point against his retirement was selfishness—maybe go for 800 goals. But I don't think that's as important as being honest with the fans. "One of the 22 NHL records he holds outright (he also has three ties) is his lifetime 786 scores."

Already a vice president of a Norris-owned insurance company and owner-operator of a suburban ice rink, Howe confirmed he would be staying with the Red Wings front office but added he would "let the big fellow do some talking" on that score.

With the permission of the team management, Howe said he would like to help out with training-coaching duties and "learn all phases of the business."

His league tenure is a record and in recent years every time he scored, assisted or did practically anything else on the ice it extended a record he already held.

Howe won the Hart Memorial trophy between $12 million and $14 million—will be sought through the King foundation and through the most affluent blacks in the country, the Record said.

Trophy as the most valuable player and the Art Ross Trophy as the top scorer in the NHL six times each. He was chosen for the league's All-Star team in all but four of his seasons. He was among the league's top five scorers for 20 consecutive seasons—from 1949-1969.

Exhibition Action Continues

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Coaching staffs of the San Francisco 49ers and the Los Angeles Rams get their last chance tonight to tune up their regulars for the official National Football League campaign—and perhaps a briefer look at some of their brightest rookies.

Both coaches, Dick Nolan of the 49ers, 3-1-1 in exhibition play, and Tommy Prothro of the Rams (3-3), experimented liberally with rookies during the preseason.

However, both coaches relied heavily on proven regulars in the games they each lost to Oakland and San Diego.

John Brodie figures to go all the way for San Francisco at quarterback, Roman Gabriel probably will play most of the time for the Rams but Prothro might want another game-test look at Jerry Rhome, who is battling Karl Sweetan for the backup quarterback spot.

For the first time this year Prothro will have all his four offensive linemen healthy and able to play—Rich Buzin and Charlie Cowan at tackle, Tom Mack and Joe Scibelli at guard and Ken Iman at center.

Starting offensive talent, in addition to Brodie, lists running backs Ken Willard and Doug Cunningham, wide receivers Dick Witcher and Gene Washington and tight end Bob Windsor for the 49ers.

For the Rams, besides Gabriel, it will be Willie Ellison and Les Josephson as running backs, Jack Snow and Lance Rentzel as wide receivers and Bob Kelein at tight end.

Until last week's losing efforts to Oakland, Brodie had been used sparingly. He has completed 43 of 77 passes for 594 yards and four touchdowns, with two interceptions.

Gabriel was used about the same. He completed 34 of 83 passes for 416 yards and two touchdowns, with four interceptions.

NFL exhibition action continues Friday with Green Bay at Buffalo, the New York Jets at New England and Cleveland on the road against St. Louis.

Saturday's contests have Atlanta at San Diego, Cincinnati at Washington, Kansas City at Dallas, Baltimore against Oakland at Jacksonville, Fla., and Miami at Minnesota.

The weekend slate concludes Sunday with Denver at Chicago, Detroit at Philadelphia, Pittsburgh at the New York Giants and Houston at New Orleans.

Frank Pitts, a seven-year veteran wide receiver, was traded by Kansas City to Cleveland for a future draft selection in one of Wednesday's pro football transactions.

In other trades, 49er safety Al Randolph was traded to the Green Bay Packers for a future draft pick, Miami Dolphins center Carl Mauck was swapped to the San Diego Chargers for tackle Tony Liscio, the New York Giants acquired quarterback Randy Jackson from the Atlanta Falcons and the Denver Broncos traded wide receiver Mike Haffner to the New England Patriots for an undisclosed draft choice.

Pitts was on the injured list most of last season and managed only 11 pass receptions for 172 yards and two touchdowns. Johnson's trade completed negotiations in which the Falcons picked up quarterback Dick Shiner on waivers from the Giants last week.

Arkansas Advances in Playoffs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Arkansas advanced to the Dixie Association Playoff finals Wednesday night but Charlotte and Asheville have one more game to go to decide the Southern finalist.

A 3-2 victory over Amarillo gave Arkansas a two-game sweep of their semifinal series while Asheville beat Charlotte 5-3 and evened the count at one game each.

Asheville and Charlotte play again tonight while Arkansas is idle, waiting to learn which club it will meet for the championship.

Righthander Santiago Guzman struck out 10 Amarillo batters and got out of a bad jam in the ninth inning, leaving the tying run on third base.

Arkansas scored in the first on a single by Jorge Roque but Amarillo tied it 1-1 on a double and Ed Figueroa drove him home with a single. Figueroa was the losing pitcher.

The Travs went ahead to stay in the bottom of the third on a single, a sacrifice, a passed ball and a wild pitch. In the sixth, Bill Brooks hit a homer to clinch it for Arkansas.

Guzman got in trouble in the ninth on an error, a single, and a single by Dick White to drive in the second run for Amarillo. Guzman struck out the next batter and forced a groundout to end the game.

Asheville beat Charlotte 5-3 Wednesday night to set up a final game tonight at Asheville in the best-of-three series.

Asheville scored two runs in the second on three singles, a walk and a fielder's choice. Another run came across in the fourth when Glen Redmon homered and the last run was pushed across on a double and two singles in the fifth.

Charlotte scored two in the eighth on a walk, three singles and an error. A double and a single scored another run in the ninth.

George Weimer picked up the victory after relieving Jim Geddes.

Martin Wants to Try Riding Again at 42

BALTIMORE (AP) — R. J. "Bobby" Martin, one of Maryland's leading jockeys before two long suspensions cut short his career, wants to ride again at the age of 42.

Martin was scheduled to appear before the Maryland Racing Commission today and make an appeal for a license, after being away from the race tracks for 14 years.

"Racing is my entire life," Martin wrote the commission in requesting the hearing. "My family and my associates are involved in the business. Many trainers and owners desire to employ me."

"It may be difficult for many people to believe that many individuals are limited as to their qualifications and abilities to earn a livelihood."

"When a person such as myself who left school at an early age and whose entire life has been centered around horses, it becomes almost impossible to earn a living by other means."

Martin was at the peak of his career in 1951 when the commission suspended him for 10 years after reporting that he bet on a horse other than the one he rode in a race at Laurel. Four years later, the suspension was lifted and Martin immediately took the riding championship at the first meeting he rode, at Pimlico.

In 1957, however, he was accused of touting three businessmen and wound up with a 12-year suspension. This was later reduced to 4½ years, but Martin didn't seek to have his license restored until now.

Martin has been galloping horses on a Maryland farm, and reportedly is in shape to resume his career.

"He had as much ability as any jockey I ever saw," said Chick Lang, the general manager at Pimlico who was Martin's agent before handling Bill Hartack and other jockeys.

"But he was hot-headed and a sucker for his money," Lang recalled. "He lent money to everybody and he bet big money. It's a wonder he never bought the Brooklyn Bridge or the formula for polka dot paint."

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB
Lactose-Free Diet
Cuts Milk Products

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
Dear Dr. Lamb—My husband is on a lactose-free diet. He suffers from chronic diarrhea. Because of this, he has eliminated all foods with milk and also eats only brown bread. Despite this, he still has the old upset because we are not sure what foods contain lactose. Could you prescribe a diet or could we obtain a list of lactose-free foods? Does powdered milk contain lactose?

Dear Reader—This is a good time to clarify this problem. There are a number of people who cannot digest lactose. Lactose is a type of sugar that is found in milk (formed by lactation). The tissue in the breast forms a double sugar which we call a "disaccharide." This double molecule has to be broken up in the intestine to be absorbed. An enzyme called "lactase" makes this possible. If this enzyme is lacking, taking a small amount of lactose will result in diarrhea, expelling the disaccharide with lactic acid.

Now I must point out that

FOUR-AND-A-HALF-MILLION DOLLARS is one difference between John Frankhenheimer and most other directors in today's Hollywood of austerity budgets. He has invested that much—and three years—in "The Horsemen," which could mark a turning point for the film industry—back to the big picture—if it is a box-office success.

THE GENERATION RAP

—by Helen and Sue Bottel

SMOOTH TALKER NEEDS CUT-DOWN:
Dear Sue:

I complained about my getting fat to my new boy friend (actually, I've gained four pounds and a "gentleman" wouldn't notice), but he said it's all psychological, on account of my being repressed, physically and emotionally.

Last week he said my pimples (I only had two) also happened because I say "No" when it's only natural for a boy and girl, etc., etc.

Freddie figures the cure for almost everything is sex, and he can quote "experts" to prove it.

When a girl doesn't really feel repressed, but she gains four pounds and gets a few zits, well, what would you say, Sue? —NO PARKING PERMITTED

Cut down on sweets, fats, starches—and Freddie! —SUE
Dear Helen and Sue:

What next? The guys we go with have decided chewing tobacco is the greatest thing since bubblegum. They say pretty soon everybody will do it.

You know how boys are. The more we fuss, the more they do. Is "chewing" really back in style again, and think what that will do to kissing. —YE-C-C-H.

HELEN SAYS:
Dear YE-C-C-H:

Chewing tobacco back in style? The boys are handing you a lot of bull (and not Durham). I doubt the fad will last past the first plug—especially when they discover how hard it is to talk without dribbling. —H.

P.S. I know a fellow whose first "chew" was his last. Someone (perhaps a girl friend?) whacked him on the back so hard he swallowed instead of spit. Among other things, he lost his taste for tobacco!

SUE SAYS:
Dear YE-C-C-H: (How DO you spell that sound, anyway?)

Maybe all you girls should start going around in weird granny dresses with corn cob pipes in your mouths.

But you'll win faster if you flatly refuse to kiss the guys until they're kissable again. (Not exactly, "Chew and we're through," just "I'll stay over here by the window till you get back to gum.") —SUE

I am a boy of 15. My future wife is 18. When I asked her to marry me I meant in three years or so.

But she wants to get married right now, and I'm not even through high school. No job, no money, no nothing.

I love her and don't want to lose her, but what can I say? —T.I.L.

Tell her true love waits and so should she. —SUE

My parent's eye sees an immature, demanding, impractical girl—and a boy who is about to be trapped.

Make sure you stand up like a MAN when you tell her true love waits. I doubt that it is, or that you'll either one be waiting three years hence. —HELEN

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

One of the earliest written descriptions of Niagara Falls was by Louis Hennepin, a French missionary, who was with La Salle's expedition there in 1678. The American Falls cataract is 193 feet high, about 1,000 feet wide and is one of the most visited scenic spots in America.

with any products made from sweet milk

For those rare individuals who have an intolerance to sucrose, you need to go a bit farther. You can usually substitute honey for household sugar since it is made up of monosaccharides (one molecule sugars, glucose and fructose). A number of fruits and vegetables contain sucrose which requires an enzyme action for absorption from the intestine. This has given rise to the thought that honey in some way is better than sugar. This appears to be true only for those rare individuals without the appropriate enzyme in the intestine to split common sugar into its two simple molecules.

Topless Show Comes to Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Robert Trout, former aide to ex-Gov. Orval E. Faubus, brought topless entertainment to the Capitol city as he opened the old Gaslite Club as a public bar Wednesday night.

He said he expected no trouble from authorities.

"The city has got to decide whether to live in the dark ages or come into the 20th century," Trout said at a reception for newsmen and well-wishers.

He said Mayor George Wimberly and Police Chief Gale Weeks had been invited. Pros. Atty. James Guy Tucker Jr. was out of town, and Trout added, "I honestly don't know" if the Censor Board was invited.

Preceded by the music of a five-piece band called "The Trolley," three girls bared their breasts in dance numbers Trout described as "go-go" and "exotic." He said "erotic" was not an appropriate term.

Trout, who has an advertising agency in Hot Springs, helped bring breasty entertainment to the resort city, where topless dancing has become almost commonplace entertainment.

The Gaslite opening was executed without a formal announcement. "The word spread fast," Trout said. "When I promised a new type of entertainment, most people figured it out right away."

The stars Wednesday night were Lori, Shirley and Pat. "Nobody gives last names in their business," Trout said.

Dancers are forbidden to date the customers, he said. The absence of last names also is to make it as difficult as possible for customers to locate the performers after the shows.

Lori, 28, of Canada, is a strawberry blonde, single 5-foot-6, 116 pounds, and measures 41-24-36. Her number, to the soundtrack from "Love Story," features her in a sheer toga. She begins as a statue, then comes to life, sheds the gold-colored toga, performs "a classical-type ballet," and, eventually, dons the toga and becomes a statue once more.

Shirley, 24, of Louisiana is a brunette, single 5-foot-8, 125 pounds, 37-26-37. She emerges in a shortie nightgown. Her "husband, boyfriend, lover or whatever," is a painter, nearby, Trout explained. She undertakes to entice his interest from the easel to herself by dancing "exotically" and disrobing gradually.

Pat, 22, of Hot Springs, has black hair, is married, stands 5-foot-4, weighs 112 pounds and has measurements of 35-23-35. Her number is a go-go dance under flashing white strobe light.

Trout said that such shows could help Little Rock develop into the sort of convention center business leaders have talked of building.

"I know for a fact you won't get to be a convention town if all a conventioneer can look forward to is sitting in his hotel room and watching television," he said.

"What is entertainment? It's something that excites, interests and stimulates. Almost any man would say a pretty woman was stimulating. Topless, it's just more so."

When do the acts go bottomless?

"I don't know," Trout said. "I don't think I need it."

Trout said that because of U. S. Supreme Court rulings, he believed there no longer was any question about the legality of topless dancing. No outraged moralists are expected, he said, but he added, "Well, there's always some dissenters to anything."

"I might even hire some people to picket the place out front," he laughed. "I believe in all the free advertising I can get."

The decor of the club has been changed to suit the entertainment. Mannequins of females, either whole or in part, have been painted gold and mounted on pedestals and plaques. Two such displays show the mannequin's breasts alone, and, with imitation leaves of gold sprouting forth, look like planters.

Above a 14-by-14 foot black linoleum tile dance floor turns a mirrored ball that throws spots of light around the club, which has 207 seats. The color scheme is velvet red, black and gold. Trout said he once considered calling the place a speakeasy. "I think that's the

Democrats Unveil Plan for Convention

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic party reform commission today unveiled its final blueprint for a streamlined 1972 national convention designed to assure equal treatment for all candidates, true representation by delegates and a speedup of the nominating process.

Many of the proposals, developed over the past two years at public hearings and meetings, require approval of the Democratic National Committee, which meets Oct. 13 and 14. Others go directly to the committee that will write next year's convention rules.

Together with delegate-selection reforms already approved by the National Committee, the proposals are designed to prevent a repetition of the party's tumultuous 1968 convention in Chicago.

They have the broad effect of providing for greater participation by women, young people and minority groups; eliminating rules and practices used by some party leaders against challengers, and strengthening the power of individual delegates to determine their officers, rules, platform and candidates.

The proposed convention committee changes add to the strength of major industrial states, already set to receive more representation under the proposed delegate-apportionment formula which is currently under a federal court challenge.

Specifically, the commission headed by Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., recommended:

—Instead of two members from each state, convention committees will have one member from each state with the rest up to 150 allocated according to delegation size.

—The platform and rules committees would be required to complete their work 10 days before the convention starts and the credentials panel would have to finish two days in advance.

—Only presidential candidates with the support of at least 50 of the proposed 3,016 delegates, could be nominated. The 50 delegates must come from at least three states. The time for nominating and seconding speeches would be limited to 15 minutes. This rules out favorite-son nominations, but a delegate would be free to vote for anyone. Floor demonstrations are banned, and "spontaneous" ones would count in the 15 minutes.

—All committee sessions including votes would be public.

—Women are assured equal representation on committees and as convention officers. Officers would be selected by the committees themselves, and the convention chairman would be picked by the delegates, rather than by party leaders.

SHOCKED SALESMAN
NEW YORK (AP) — When a beautiful girl walked into Michael Salem's women's shop he asked if she wanted to model at a fashion show.

"I'm sorry," she said. "I won't be in town that day."

After she made a purchase her credit card showed that the "model" was actress Ann-Margret.

kind of mood we're after," he said.

While the club does not serve food in the show area, Trout said he was confident he was not in violation of regulations of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board. "They know where we are and exactly what we're doing," he said.

Two Declare Officers Kicked Them

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two 19-year-old blacks say Little Rock detectives beat and kicked them and eventually forced them to sign statements confessing that they had participated in the rape of a young white woman on an Arkansas River sandbar the night of May 29, 1970.

Clarence Lee Bruce and Charles Earl Jones, both of Little Rock, made the statements Tuesday during their first-degree rape trial. They said the beatings occurred the night of June 1, 1970. Both denied any role in the alleged crime.

Frank Vincent Hamilton, 19, the third defendant in the trial, is expected to testify today.

Dr. Jerry D. Jewell, a Little Rock dentist who is a member of the city Civil Service Commission and state president of the NAACP, testified that he went to the jail June 3, 1970 and observed fresh wounds on the faces and bodies of the three defendants.

Bruce testified that he learned June 1, 1970 that police wanted Frank Hamilton and that he and Jones rode to the station with Hamilton. Bruce said that while Hamilton was being questioned Detective Larry Dill directed he and Jones to separate interrogation rooms.

Bruce said he and Hamilton and Jones were placed in a lineup with three older men and taken back to the interrogation room where Detective Sgt. H.F. Jones told him a girl identified him as one of her attackers. Bruce said he told the officer the girl was lying.

Bruce said he was then beaten by Detective Jones, Dill and other officers whom he could not identify. He said one of the officers shoved a needle into his abdomen but withdrew it after another officer warned that it would leave a mark.

Bruce testified that Detective Jones later wrote out a statement and told him to sign it.

Charles Jones also testified that Dill and other officers struck and kicked him and that Dill forced him to sign a confession.

RIDING EASY a different way this time, Peter Fonda plays the lead in "The Hired Hand," his most recently released movie.

Peter Fonda Speaks: The Sky Is Falling

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD—(N. E. A.)—You wouldn't look at the house twice. It's old and weathered and set back from a dreary street behind a weedy lawn. Its chief feature is a flagpole, from which an upside-down flag flutters forlornly.

This is the headquarters of Peter Fonda, actor, moviemaker and self-styled anarchist.

It's too early to tell whether the Fonda family will be remembered as prophetic voices or merely an annoying cross we have to bear. But there is no doubt that they all have talent, and Peter has as much as any of them.

His new film, "The Hired Hand," has had mixed reviews, but there is no questioning its cinematic skill. And now he is shooting another one, "Idaho Transfer," which will undoubtedly be equally intriguing.

In the living room-office of the house, two girls were occupied—one typing, the other knitting. Fonda led the way through the kitchen, past the remains of lunch, and out across another sad lawn to what he called "the cool room." This is his office, a tiny outbuilding, air-conditioned, with a teetering table and a hand-lettered sign on the wall reading, "We're Gonna Do It—Warren Oates."

Fonda, in blue jeans and flowing strawberry blond beard, ripped the tab off a can of beer and talked about what he would do if he were president.

"I would immediately become a dictator," he said. "I would abolish the constitution and the republic. I'd have no more diplomats and no more Army and no more Navy."

And then he grinned and said, "See why I won't be president?"

He is utterly pessimistic about our world, the U.S. government and the human condition. He thinks we have only a few years left to us.

"The human animal," he says, "is a lying, deceitful vicious beast."

With that attitude — and perhaps you can feel it in his films — the wonder is that he continues his work. But Fonda doesn't find any incompatibility between his philosophy and his career. He believes movies are the best way of reaching the most people with his message.

Television would be even better, he says, "but I couldn't do my kind of thing on TV."

He makes money—"Easy Rider," of course, was a bonanza — but doesn't use much of it himself. He pours most of it back into his films.

"I did buy a boat from my 'Easy Rider' money," he says. "And I hope soon to sail around the world—while there's still a world left to sail around."

He has no religion, in the accepted sense, although he has been exposed to it.

"There was a dude walking around 2,000 years ago," he says, "who said some heavy things. But nobody really understood him then, and they don't understand him today. I went to church as a child—when I lived in Greenwich, Conn., that was the thing to do—but today religion isn't the answer."

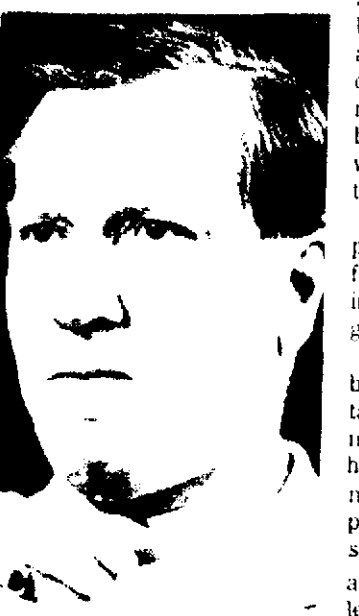

He believes we are close to barbarism, and considers our funeral practices a good example of that.

"We put caskets underground," he says, "but even trees die more sensibly—they fall and become earth and other things can grow. When I die, I'm going to have myself put into the ground, maybe a foot beneath the surface, with no clothes on, so other things can grow from me."

He doesn't watch much television, which he also feels is near-barbaric, and only laughs if someone mentions his father's series, The Smith Family.

"I guess my father has to pay his bills," he says.

Buy now and Chrysler Corporation will pass on to you any refund of the Federal Excise Tax on cars if, as proposed by President Nixon, it's repealed by Congress. So don't wait.

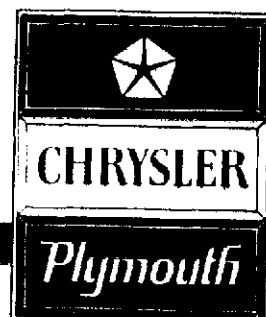

If you've been holding off on that new car because you're not sure how the proposed repeal of the excise tax affects you, we've got great news.

We have been informed that if Congress repeals the tax, retail purchasers who have taken delivery of new cars between the effective date of retroactivity (President Nixon proposed August 16, 1971) and the date on which the tax is repealed will receive refunds from the Government through Chrysler Corporation of the amount of any excise tax included in the price of the new cars they purchased.

The refund will be made automatically and won't require a claim on your part. It is estimated that refunds will average approximately $200. This, of course, is only an average, with actual amounts depending on the model you select.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Reality, sometimes grim, shouldered aside a number of the regularly scheduled happy fantasies of network television on Wednesday night.

NBC presented the first of its new "Quarterly Report" series, with John Chancellor serving as anchor for a number of summaries of some high new points of the past three months plus a look ahead.

CBS devoted an hour to a calm and informative discussion program on drug abuse called "If You Turn On," aimed at the young but a big help to parents.

"Quarterly Report" out of the NBC News Department, benefits from having a definite structure and thus avoids being simply a catch-all for timely and timeless news features, the form of the other network "magazine format" programs—NBC's "First Tuesday" and CBS's "60 Minutes."

Chancellor and network correspondents involved seem to be allowed considerable editorial freedom in their comments, although nothing particularly controversial was expressed.

The initial program first focused on the new constitutional amendment which permits 18-year-olds to vote. The segment emphasized the difficulty some young people are having in trying to register. Reporter Sander Vanocur reminded viewers meaningfully that voting is a right, not a privilege.

Another portion was concerned with capital punishment in light of a forthcoming Supreme Court decision on its constitutionality. There were interviews with some convicted men and a woman—some of whom have been on death row for as long as 10 years. Their faces and their remarks were more impressive than the philosophizing of reporter Jack Perkins about the morality of a death sentence.

"If You Turn On" was a happy adaptation of the technique used a few times by CBS in a series of audience quizzes on driving and health. It posed eight questions on drug use, from marijuana to heroin, to the television audience, and then proceeded to concentrate on drug addiction.

A group of young ex-addicts described their experiences and tried to explain why and how they became involved. Moderator Jerry Dunphy reported results of a survey among the general public which revealed that the average person is definitely misinformed on the subject.

Comments of the young people were sincere, often a strange combination of psychiatric terms and drug slang. The comments of medical men on danger of brain and cell damage and even of death were particularly forceful in the context of the program. The hour concluded by flashing on the screen local telephone numbers at which help for addicts could be obtained.

MONEY CLIPS

by Mort Reed

Money Clips Editor.

Dear Sir—It is a well-known fact that the U.S. mint at Philadelphia produces much of the coinage for smaller foreign countries, such as Nepal, Liberia and the Republic of Panama. But isn't it also a fact that the same mint has coined dimes for Canada since that government converted to a pure nickel composition?—C.C.J. Jr., Allentown, Pa.

Canada does not have a dime in her coin family as we do. Officially, it is referred to as Ten Cents. Page 131 of "The Guidebook & Catalog of British Commonwealth Coins," by Remick, James, Dowle and Finn, 3rd Edition, Item Y55 shows there were slightly more than 70 million 1968 Ten Cent coins of Canada minted at Ottawa with a .500 silver content.

Item Y55-A lists 75 million Canadian Ten Cent coins minted in nickel at the Philadelphia mint and 32 million in the same composition minted at Ottawa the same year.

Since you are obviously a Canadian coin collector you may find it interesting to know how to distinguish between the pieces coined at the U.S. facility and those coined in Ottawa. Illustrations on the same page as the above descriptions show those coins produced in this country to have 99 "reeds" on the edge separated by a flat base cavity. Those produced in Canada have 97 "reeds" separated by a "V" cavity.

With the exception of this neighborly participation, Canada has coined all of her own hard money since 1908.

Students Form Mod Squad to Fight Trouble

By ROBERT SHAW

Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A "mod squad" of college students will soon be riding Little Rock school buses and patrolling junior and senior high campuses to keep down trouble.

Creation of the team is an outgrowth of the large-scale busing of secondary pupils required by federal court to achieve racial balance in the schools, says School Supt. Floyd Parsons. A reason, he said, is that this is the district's first experience with any kind of busing.

The college students will work part-time, riding buses with the public school pupils in the mornings or afternoons or monitoring school halls and campuses during the day, depending on where they are needed, Parsons said.

The students will be assigned to buses or campuses where there have been reports of rowdiness.

"Hopefully, they will nip it in the bud if a problem arises," Parsons said.

But the college students will have no disciplinary authority other than to take down the names of offenders and report them to school authorities, the superintendent said.

He said that through the program it is hoped that "better rapport" may be developed with trouble makers.

The district plans to begin in about a week to hire 10 students who will make up the squad. They are expected to come from the student bodies of the University of Arkansas and Philander Smith at Little Rock and perhaps other colleges. The pay will be about $1.80 an hour for two to four hours of work, Parsons said.

The project is to be financed by $10,000 in federal money, which will come from a $770,000

U.S., Russia Agree to End Harassment

By KENNETH J. FREED

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S.-Soviet agreement to seek an end to harassment of each others' navy is not part of any Russian effort to offset Communist China's increasingly active diplomacy, American officials say.

Nevertheless, some foreign diplomats are questioning why Moscow picked this week to approve an October visit by an American delegation to discuss ways of preventing what the State Department described as "collisions and other incidents at sea."

The time is only coincidence, according to high State Department officials, and has no direct relations to recent Soviet agreements easing tension with the United States and its European allies.

In fact, one source said, the Soviet Union agreed last November to the principle of seeking accords on joint naval matters. He denied any delay was involved in waiting until Wednesday to announce the talks would open Oct. 12. "It was only a matter of working out the details and then setting a date," he said. There was no explanation why Moscow hadn't answered sooner after the original U.S. approach was made in April, 1968.

State Department spokesman Charles W. Bray told newsmen Wednesday that Undersecretary of the Navy John W. Warner will head a high-ranking American delegation to Moscow "to discuss how to avoid incidents at sea between our two nations."

Explaining that the hoped-for understanding would cover "rules of the road" for naval vessels of both countries, Bray said no political background is involved. Only the desire to prevent recurrence of the 100 incidents reported over the past several years is behind the talks, Bray said.

But more than one diplomat noted the new Soviet agreement follows closely several other Russian acts of apparent friendship with the West.

Prime among these was last week's signing of a treaty with the United States, France and Great Britain in which the Soviets made several major concessions on the status of Berlin while gaining comparatively few.

There also are expectations Moscow will agree to an accord at the strategic arms limitation talks. And several months ago Russian officials suddenly expressed interest for the first time in mutual reduction of armed forces in Central Europe.

Foreign diplomats and some U.S. officials are known to feel Moscow took these steps because of concern with China's efforts to ease relations with the West and what the Russians fear is a serious military situation on their border with the Asian giant.

grant the district received under the Emergency School Assistance Program, which was created to help districts under court desegregation orders to ease the burdens they face.

The Little Rock district received one of the first grants under the program and at the time it was received Aug. 26 the money was the most allowed any district.

About 5,000 secondary pupils are being bused under the Little Rock plan, along with another 500 elementary pupils. Parsons said that so far there had been no serious problems, although there has been a broken bus window or two and a few things thrown out the window.

The big federal grant may not be used to finance the actual transportation of students. The district is using it for such projects as the operation of a "gateway school" to teach students who have been suspended from regular classes because of behavioral problems and to provide in-service training to teachers in interracial understanding.

The idea of having college students police buses and campuses was originated by Dr. Don R. Roberts, assistant superintendent in charge of pupil personnel, but Parsons said he did not know the origin of the name of "mod squad," except that this is the title of a popular television program.

Dumping Bill Critics Find Trouble

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Critics of a major bill to control dumping of waste into oceans, coastal waters and the Great Lakes claim this environmental protection measure is overloaded and running into jurisdictional trouble.

The bill before the House would bar unregulated dumping of waste; ban transporting and dumping of radiological, chemical or biological warfare agents and high-level radioactive wastes; and authorize marine sanctuaries for preserving conservation, recreation, ecological or esthetic values.

Yet, while some congressmen are seeking to slice out the full 30-million marine-sanctuaries section, others are trying to expand provisions even more by adding an oil-drilling moratorium.

A backstage dispute among committees postponed House action before the month-long congressional recess. The plan drafted by the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee was due for floor debate as a first item facing returning legislators today.

Floor discussion could carry over to Thursday before decisions come on expected moves by Interior Committee Chairman Wayne N. Aspinall, D-Colo., to kill the marine-sanctuaries portion and by Reps. Norman F. Lent, R-N.Y., and Charles E. Fague, R-Calif., to insert the anti-oil-drilling provision.

Dumping of waste would be prohibited unless authorized by the Environmental Protection Agency or the Corps of Engineers. The corps could issue permits only to dump dredge and fill material—as long as these operations are in line with EPA standards.

Although EPA backs the bill, the Interior Department has attacked the marine-sanctuaries portion.

The Merchant Marine Committee said the disputed section would let the Commerce secretary designate areas up to the edge of the Continental Shelf as marine sanctuaries. A coastal-state governor could veto projects involving his state.

The Interior Department said the Office of Management and Budget and the State and Defense departments "have expressed their concern about the claim to extra-territorial jurisdiction proposed."

The Lent-Teague amendment would authorize the Interior secretary to impose a moratorium on oil-drilling leases in any area under study for designation as a marine sanctuary. Teague's district includes the Santa Barbara, Calif., region involved in an oil blowout in 1969.

The committee-approved bill would implement the Nixon administration's ocean-dumping proposals. But the panel's plan differs by making the Atomic Energy Commission comply with regulations, by requiring the Corps of Engineers to apply EPA standards on permits, and by imposing an absolute ban on CBW agents and high-level radioactive wastes.

Mine Deaths Increase in Two Months

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. coal-mining death rate took a sharp upturn in July and August after setting a 25-year safety record for the first five months, according to unpublished Bureau of Mines statistics.

Informed sources say the Interior Department, after pointing proudly to the earlier figures, has barred its spokesmen from publicizing the July-August rate which nearly doubled from May-June.

"The only thing the statistics prove," said one Bureau of Mines source, "is that we haven't got the situation under control yet."

"Statistically," commented another, "the records have been about the same for the past 20 years. There's been no significant trend."

The department, whose mine-safety enforcement program has come under increasing attack, cities what it calls "the lowest fatality rate, during the first seven months of this year, in the statistical history of coal mining."

Eighty-six miners were killed during the first five months, for a ratio of .73 fatalities per million man-hours worked. The six-month ratio fell to .69.

The picture suddenly changed in July when 17 men died, setting a one-month rate of .97 fatalities per million man-hours and pushing the seven-month figure back to .72.

Bureau of Mines personnel tried to announce the upswing but could not get official clearance for a news release, sources said.

A reference to the July death rate, in a speech written for Mines Bureau Director Elbert E. Osborn for delivery in Denver Aug. 22, was edited out by the department, sources said.

In August, the latest reports show, at least 20 men died in the coal mines. Man-hour figures are not available yet, but it appears the August fatality rate will approach one death per million hours worked.

Mrs. Robb Has an Injury

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — University of Virginia Hospital spokesmen say Lynda Johnson Robb will be hospitalized through this week for a cracked neck vertebra.

The daughter of former President Lyndon B. Johnson suffered the injury in a fall in the yard of her home last weekend and was brought to the hospital Sunday by her husband Charles.

Gerrymandering Evident, Says Lawmaker

HORATIO, Ark. (AP)—State Rep. George Davis of Horatio says gerrymandering was evident during the recent apportionment of the Arkansas House this year.

David was thrown by reapportionment into a district with Rep. Charles "Bubba" Wade of Texarkana. The new district includes parts of Sevier, Miller and Little River counties.

Davis said he did not feel the revamping was the work of political enemies, saying the outcome was just as rough on Wade as it was on him.

"It looks like they (Board of Apportionment) went down a side street to pull Wade into this district and it was an obvious case of gerrymandering," he said.

William T. Kelly, chairman of the Pulaski County Republican Committee, has filed suit challenging the apportionment plan.

Dismissed Worker to Be Rehired

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Dalton Jennings, commissioner of the state Division of Social Services, said Tuesday he would not rehire Elmer O. Stuckey of Rison, who lost his job as a commodity distribution representative in July.

Stuckey was dismissed by Jennings after the job of commodity distribution representative was removed from the jurisdiction of the state Merit System. The council had recommended that Stuckey be reinstated.

"There is no evidence before the council which would support a finding of unsatisfactory performance of duty, lack of good behavior or good cause for dismissal," the council said.

Stuckey was hired in 1967 under the administration of former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, a Republican.

Mistrial Is Denied

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A motion for mistrial in the second murder case of Charles Manson was denied as the trial resumed after a two-week recess.

Manson, sentenced to death earlier this year for the seven Tate-LaBianca murders, is now on trial in the slayings of stuntman Donald "Shorty" Shea and musician Gary Hinman.

Manson's attorney, Irving Kanarek, asked Tuesday for a mistrial because of recent publicity over arrests of Manson followers in an attempted robbery that ended in a shootout.

Meanwhile, in the trial of Charles "Tex" Watson, being tried separately for the Tate-LaBianca murders, a second physician testified Tuesday that Watson has brain damage probably caused by drugs.

1 tablespoon cold water

2 cups light cream

4 egg yolks, beaten

1/2 cup sugar

1/8 teaspoon salt

2 ounces semi-sweet chocolate, coarsely grated

Sprinkle gelatin over cold water; let stand 5 minutes to soften. In a small saucepan combine light cream with egg yolks, sugar and salt; mix well. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, for 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in softened gelatin. Turn mixture into ice cube tray without divider; cool slightly. Place in freezer and freeze until almost firm. Remove from tray and beat until fluffy. Beat in chocolate. Spoon into ice cream pop forms or into ice cube tray with divider. If using pop forms insert sticks at once. If using ice cube tray wait until mixture is partly frozen to insert sticks. Freeze until firm. To unmold, separate cream from the sides of the molds with a hot knife. Lift out carefully. Makes 1 quart or 16 pops of 1/4 cup each.

Homemade ice cream pops ease budget and keep small fry happy.
